It is observed that the Govt. Comm. view that officials who have attained 55 years of age should be retired unless there are exceptional reasons for retaining them, is not a correct exposition of the rule. The rule is to the effect that no official should be retired merely on the ground of having attained the age of 55 years unless it is unfit for further

Service, it cannot be construed or given
effect to in the manner suggested
by the Defnt Comm^r,
nor does it require
amendment — the policy of Govt, as
stated & the rule,
being to allow officials
to remain in service
till they are 60,
unless they are in-
efficient or their retirement is, on
other grounds, desirable.

3. The sentimental
application in retirement is inadmissible. His official request is one for

In reply to your docket No. 3406—Mis. 734, dated the 8th instant, I have the honor to state that Krishnappa, Nagadi gumasta of Sira taluk, has expressed a desire to retire, if his son be provided with a small appointment.

2. In this connection, I beg to submit that it is undesirable, in the interests of efficient and honest work, to retain officials for short temporary periods after they have attained 55 years of age. They lose all interest in their work, with retirement impending on their heads; and Government work as well as the moral tone of the service are sure to suffer in consequence. An exception may and is, as a rule, made in the case of officials whose retirement would be a loss to the service by the grant of a year or two's grace to them. He has not applied to be retired, but for reasons given in my letter No. 281, dated 12th instant, it is desirable to retire him in the intrests of efficient work.
